

Lemongrass

Irrigation

Lemongrass has a high water requirement and frequent irrigations are essential for getting optimum yield in those areas where rainfall is restricted only to the monsoon. In northern India, 4-5 irrigations are required during February- June. As the plant cannot withstand any amount of water-logging, planting on ridges or open hill slopes is recommended.